J. BRACEGIRDLE HAS CLOSE SHAVE FROM FATAL SHOOTING

On Wednesday evening last, owing to a display of thoughtlessness of the "didn't know it was loaded" brand, Mr Jas. Bracegirdle, who for some time has been clerking in the Washburn Harware, escaped what might have been sudden death at the instance of a .22 rifle.

Mr Bracegirdle was out with Messrs J. Gerow and M. Kemp for an auto ride and enjoying the sport of exterminating a few more of the gopher pest and when a short distance north of the Dowling farm north of town, he got out for another shot. Having only wounded a gopher which was making a get-away he attempted to finish the animal by using his rifle as a club. Holding the weapon by the muzzle he hit the ground with the butt end with the result that the gun (being loaded) went off and the bullet entered his right side at the lower extremity of the lung.

Mr Gerow immediately rushed the sufferer to town in the car and under the care of Dr Middlemass he was placed on the train and taken to Edmonton.

An operation was found necessary at the General hospital and on Thursday morning this was performed and the bullet extracted, since when the patient has been recovering nicely.

Latest reports say that he is making rapid recovery and under the care he is receiving at the hands of the nurses and his mother, who was called from Calgary, he will soon be around again.

After Two Years Stay Presbyterian Minister Leaves for Banff

Large and appreciative congregations were in attendance on Sunday last at St Andrew's church where the Rev. J. B. Thompson preached his farewell sermons.

Mr Thompson came to Wainwright a little over two years ago, coming straight here from the city of Swansea, S. Wales, and during his stay with us he has verily endeared himself to the members of his faith and built up the work of Presbyterianism in this community.

A short while since he received a call to the appointment at Banff, and feeling that this step would give him larger scope in his work Mr Thompson has accepted the proffered post. He leaves today, accompanied by his son Ross, and will make the trip by auto.

Mrs Thompson expects to leave with the rest of the family in a couple of weeks.

While sorry to see this family leave our midst their very many friends are extending hearty wishes for increased prosperity for them in their new sphere.

A pleasant time was spent by a large gathering at the church last night when a farewell and presentation was made from the congregation and friends. A full report will appear next week.

The Quebec family had a moving job last week and are now located on Queen street.

WHO AM I?

Last February I didn't want to embarass my best girl to make her propose to me, so asked her to be my wife; but she said she'd rather be excused, and, like an idiot, I excused her. But I got even with the girl—I married her mother. Then my father married the girl. Now I don't know who I am. When I married the girl's mother the girl became my daughter; and when my father married my daughter he is my son. When my father married my daughter, she becomes my mother. If my father is my son and my daughter is my mother, then who in thunder am I?

My mother's mother (which is my wife) must be my grandmother; and I, being my grandmother's husband, I am my own Grandfather!

SCHEME EVOLVED TO OBVIATE ALL UNEMPLOYMENT

The Dominion command, Great War Veterans, has received the outline of a plan whereby the waste lands in the vicinity of every large city could be utilized and at the same time give employment to many of the unemployed.

The scheme as outlined, provides for the formation of a corporation to be known as the "corporation for unemployment" with shares at $1.00 each, to be contributed by any person interested. This money, the plan sets forth, would purchase the land, while the produce sold at regular market prices would pay wages and other charges.

If this scheme were in operation, the inventor believes every unemployed man could be given work while waiting for an opening in his proper trade.

MARSHES & LAKES TRULY ALIVE WITH DUCKS THIS SEASON

(By C.W. H.)

The quacking and quaking waterfowl! Yes, plenty of them; ducks everywhere the ground is the least damp.

There is nothing in the world like the duck flight to bring the hunting thrill to the sportsmen's heart.

The feel of the wind that rustles in the reeds—the polished gunstock under his arm— the excitement of sweeping wings and outstretched necks.

A successful day in the open and good luck—the hunter's joy.

No bird like the wild duck has provided more wholesome sport to the lover of dog and gun; nor fuller measure of toothsome food; no game better meets the requirements of the busy man who enjoys a few days outing each year, and who has neither the time nor the resources to indulge in more expensive and exacting hunting.

More ducks than usual on the ponds and lakes are reported. There are more of the larger species than have been seen for many years, railways agents along the Canadian National lines declare. Along the larger lakes and rivers, where the shooting lodges are chiefly located, the chances for good wing shooting are excellent. Young ducks are more mature than usual this season and will bag up fast in weight.

Each year there are many persons making their first shoot and most of them are not familiar with game laws. There are also many of the old shots who can probably profit by reading carefully the game laws. All sportsmen should secure a copy of the game laws of the province he proposes entering so as to be familiar with the game that is legally hunted.

Transportation companies are making preparations for the conveyance of large parties to the hunting grounds in various provinces. As in former years, the more profitable hunt of the ducks is to be found in districts served by the Canadian National Railways and the following places, in various provinces, include the more popular shooting grounds where not for many years has the wild fowl been in such abundance. In nearly all cases guides are not required.

In addition to hundreds of other points the following are some of the best in Alberta: Ashmont; Belseker; Big Valley; Clip man; Clyde; Craigmyle; Chinook Cereal; Chauvin; Camrose; Delia Donalda; Drumheller; Delburne; Edgerton; Elnora; Excel; Edberg Ferintosh; Fort Saskatchewan; Hanna; Huxley; Islay; Irma; Kitscoty; Kingman; Lloydminster; Lamont; Manville; Meeting Creek; Mundare; Morrin; Morinville; Ryley; Ranfurly Sibbald; St Albert; Stony Plains; St Paul Three Hills; Viking; Vermilion; Wabamun; Wainwright; Wayne; Warden.

Messrs Cookson and McLaughlin motored down from Tofield on Sunday for a visit at the home of Banker Rowe.

LOCAL DUCK HUNTERS REPORT GOOD BAGS ON OPENING DAY

Mallards, spoonbills and other varieties of ducks that have been flying around secluded lakes and sloughs in comfortingly large numbers during the past few weeks without the least apprehension for their safety, found something of a shock awaiting them, when all the hunters in the country were on the warpath. The opening season for ducks and geese commenced September 1st and a multitude of sportsmen, who have been counting the days while they made the finishing touches to their preparations.

The season extends from September 1st until December 14, and the bag limit for ducks is 30 per day, with that for the season set at 200.

Shooters must provide themselves with a license, which may be obtained for the sum of $2.25, before they declare open war on the ducks.

Hunters returning to town today report good bags.

Practically everyone in town (except the Editor) made a real holiday of Monday last and some fine "bags" of ducks were registered.

JOHN CALLAGHAN OF CALGARY, NEW DEPUTY-MINISTER

The first departmental change of consequence in the new provincial government since the taking of office by the Greenfield cabinet some days ago, is announced by Hon. V. W. Smith, the minister of railways and telephones, who has selected John Callaghan, of Calgary, as deputy minister of these dual departments.

Since the resignation of N. T. Harvey last March, during the session of the legislature, L. C. Charlesworth, formerly deputy minister of public works, has been acting deputy minister of railways and telephones, in addition to carrying on his work as head of the irrigation and drainage work for the government.

Mr Callaghan has been actively connected with railway construction in Canada for many years. At one time he was chief engineer on construction of the Pacific and Great Eastern and recently has been with the C. P. R. in Calgary.

RED CROSS NOTES

Extensive preparations are being made at the Provincial Head quarters of the Red Cross in Calgary to meet the Relief situation this Fall. The Red Cross has already had a number of calls and have given every assistance possible in all cases, which upon investigation, proved to be genuine.

The Red Cross took an active part in the Memorial services held in Calgary on Sunday. They arranged automobiles for all the soldier patients in the Calgary hospitals and their members were also in attendance at the service in large numbers.

The unemployment situation is one of the many problems which the new Government is giving a good deal of attention these days. The Red Cross is doing its part in helping give information along these lines. Mrs Waagen, Honorary Secretary has attended two conferences in Edmonton at which this all-important subject was discussed.

The enthusiasm of members of the Junior Red Cross is so marked in some districts that they have undertaken membership campaign among the seniors and are doing very well. With the opening of the schools their work will become very active.

Miss B. Davison of Park Road school paid a visit to her home in the city over the week end.

A wonderful display of the aurora borealis (northern lights) was interested last week end.

The fall fair prize lists are now being printed and will be ready at the end of the week. The publication will include the school fair list also.

THE SONG OF THE "LAND MAKES REAL MERRY MUSIC NOW

Harvesting is now general throughout the whole district and in some places cutting is practically finished while on other farms the merry music of the thresher is heard from sun-up till dusk.

This is about the earliest on record for this community and the crop taken off on the average is as good as ever was reaped here. On some farms the grain is magnificent and high returns are assured.

Although the south territory suffered to some extent from lack of moisture the grain will in some parts return around fifteen bushels while north and west of town we hear of wheat running as high as 35 bushels to the acre.

Our farmers are getting their long-deserved returns, and more power to 'em!

THE EXAMINER'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

(Friday September 2, 1921)

CATTLE

Fat steers and cows are a little easier in price at Calgary, with top steers $4.50@$5; good, $3.75@$4.50; medium, $3@$3.50; common, $1.75@$3. Better quality cows might get more, but tops are $3.25@$3.75; good, $2.75@$3.25; medium, $2.25@$2.75; common, $2@$2.25; canners down to $1. Bulls weak at $2.25 for best, and down to $1. Calves were weakening, but Thursday made up to $5.75; common, $3@$4. Quite a movement in feeder steers and stocker heifers; a few loads of steers went out at $4, but most of them are $3@$3.75, with stocker steers $2.25@$2.75; stocker heifers, $2.25@$3, stocker cows, $1@$2.25.

Demand from local packers, butchers, order buyers from the coast trade and export business is keeping the steer prices at Edmonton fairly steady though there has been a decline from last week. Choice steers, $5@$5.50; good butchers, $4.25@$4.75; medium, $3.25@$4; common, $2.50@$3.25. Top cows up to $3.50; good, $2.50@$3; medium, $2@$2.50; common, 1.75@$2; canners down to 50c. Bulls slow and unchanged, 50c@$1.75. Calves slightly weaker, but choice would make $5.50 and common $3@$4. Feeder steers in better demand, $2.25@$3; stockers from $2 down; stock heifers steady at $2@$2.50.

HOGS

Movement very light at Calgary during week, and prices not well established; sales Thursday at $11.75@$12. Prices today were $12.50.

Hogs are also a light run at Edmonton, and prices have been lower than last quotation, with sales on Thursday down to $11.50.

SHEEP

All mutton classes lower, with lambs, $4.50@$7; wethers, $4@$5; ewes, $2.50@$4. Receipts at Calgary fairly heavy.

Sheep have been coming fairly freely at Edmonton, and lambs the only ones which are meeting with anything like reasonable success. Lambs, $5@$7; ewes from $3.50 down.

GRAIN

Predictions of breaks in wheat premiums are being rapidly realized, and spread is much narrower this week. Harvesting news is quite satisfactory, and yields as a rule better than anticipated. Weather conditions favorable.

PRODUCE

Milk prices in Calgary district dropped to $2.70, and producers threaten retaliation. Table and churning cream unchanged. Butter unchanged, but tone weaker following lower Montreal market. Dairy butter unchanged. Eggs in poor demand; prices $8.70@$10. Poultry unchanged, but tone weaker, with hens 14c@16c; chickens, 18c@20c; young ducks, 25c@26c; demand slow. Potato market waiting developments with no carlot price yet.

Cream receipts are also showing reduction in Edmonton territory, and indications are that before long there will not be much export surplus. Prices unchanged on creamery butter, wholesaling at 35c@40c for pound prints, of first and second grade.

HUNTERS BEWARE OF POTTING DUCK BIRDS LIKELY SICK

"Get your duck on the wing this fall," is the warning from Fred Bradshaw, chief game guardian for Saskatchewan.

Those who sneek up to the reeds and pick off a duck from the water or waddling on the shore may lay up trouble for themselves. They are likely to take home diseased ducks, according to the Cheif Game Guardian. "It is only the healthy ducks that can fly," he says, "and if you get them on the wing you may be reasonably assured they are all right."

The mysterious disease which attacked wild ducks and geese in various parts of the province last year is again in evidence. H. H. Mitchell, povincial naturalist, writing from Lake Johnson reported coming across six geese in a weakened condition, dead and sick mallard ducks, pintail and widgeon, least sandpipers and a sick kingbird, all apparently suffering from the same malady. Mr Mitchell expresses the opinion that birds in such condition are dangerous to use as food, even if only slightly affected—Regina Leader.

GOVERNMENT WILL HELP SEND CATTLE TO CHICAGO SHOW

The provincial department of agriculture has decided to give assitance to breeders in Alberta in the sending of live stock exhibit to the Chicago International exhibition, which will be held in December. The department agrees to pay the cost of transportation of stock from Calgary to Chicago and return, all other expenses to be paid by exhibitors. In addition to this, the department will give the following prizes to exhibitors who win at the International, in addition to the prize money which they will obtain at this show:

To each Alberta exhibitor who wins a grand championship prize, $300.

To each Alberta exhibitor who wins a reserve grand championship prize $200.

To each Alberta exhibitor who wins either a senior or junior championship prize, $150.

To each Alberta exhibitor who wins a reserve senior champion ship or reserve junior championship or a first prize in either open classes of breed specials, $100.

An exhibitor will not be entitled to more than one of the above prizes on account of any single animal.

Alberta made a good showing last year at the International exhibition with cattle from the provincial university, and in previous years breeders throughout the province have been able to win distinguished honors at this show with animals bred and fed in Alberta. There can be no question that good stock sent from this province to these exhibitions will do a great deal to advertise Alberta as a live stock province, as well as advertise the individual who owns the stock, particularly if he should be fortunate enough to win any of the top premiums.

It is desirable that as many good animals as possible be contributed, including horses, cattle, sheep and swine and the department is communicating with the various breed associations throughout the province, with a view to securing information as to probable exhibitors. It is desirable that this matter be taken up at once, so that those who decide to exhibit will be abel to spend the time between now and the exhibition preparing their animals for the show. Anyone requiring further information should communicate with the department.

Mrs A. Hartery, from Carstairs, who has been spending a holiday with Mrs A. Dreger, returned home last week.

PREMIER GREENFIELDS'S FIRST MESSAGE TO WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

The attitude of the new government toward the Women's Institutes of Alberta is clearly defined in a message received from Premier Greenfield by the Provincial Woman's Institutes' secretary, Mrs A. H. Rogers, of Fort Saskatchewan. The message reads:

"There appears to be some feeling of uncertainty among the members of the Women's Institutes in some parts of the province as to what the future policy of the government will be in Institute work.

"While the policy of the government in this regard has not yet come up for discussion in any way, allow me to take this opportunity to assure you that the government fully appreciates the fact that the Women's Institutes have a very definite function in the life of the women of this province and have a very important work to perform, and that if any change of policy is decided upon by the government, such change will be actuated by a desire to increase the efficiency and usefulness of the organization."

GRASSHOPPER PEST NOW SERIOUS SAYS DOMINION EXPERT

Attention is again being drawn by the provincial department of agriculture, and also by E. H. Strickland, Dominion government entomologist, to the seriousness of the grasshopper situation. It is stated that much damage is being caused by these insects to early fall rye that is now beginning to spring up and Mr Strickland suggests that farmers might do well to postpone the sowing of the seed until later on in the season.

It is urged that every precaution should be taken in destroying these pests. Unless this is done Mr Strickland asserts that the out break next year will be worse than it has ever been. There are still stocks of poison to be obtained, and farmers are requested to get in touch with M. L. Freng, of the provincial department of agriculture, who will render all assistance possible.

ANNUAL CLEAN-UP NOW DUE AROUND BREEDING PREMISES

Mr Geo. Robertson, Dominion poultry husbandman says that as soon as the breeding season is over the fowl that are not intended to be retained for future breeders should be disposed of. The birds should be either put into a yard or confined to part of the yard, the rest being limed, ploughed or spaded, and seeded to green crop such as rape or rye.

All litter should be removed from the house and the ceiling, walls and floor thoroughly swept. Movable fixtures should be taken out and the whole interior given a thorough washing. The best way to do this is to use the hose if you have one, after the hose give the building a good flooding and scrub it down with a stiff brush. If there is no hose, be even more careful about the scrubbing. After the house has been thoroughly cleaned give it a soak. One of the coal tar preparations will be found satisfactory for this purpose, this should be applied with a spray pump so that it will be forced into all the cracks and crevices of the building. If there is no spray pump use a brush, but be sure to get it into these cracks and crevices.

The house should be left standing for a couple of days to dry out leaving it wide open to allow the sun and air to enter freely. It should then be given a good application of whitewash. The fixtures, nest boxes, roosts and dropping boards which have been removed, should be treated in a similar manner.

Miss B. Billington, who visited Wainwright last summer with the Imperial Press Conference, has undergone a serious operation and is in a nursing home in London. Her Majesty the Queen has not only sent Miss Billington boxes of flowers, but has conveyed her sympathy in two personal letters.

MUSICAL ECKHARDTS PLAY TO CROWDED HOUSE ON MONDAY

Despite counter attractions on Labor Day evening, the Elite theatre was comfortably filled when the well-known Eckardt musical aggregation took the stage, and the whole show was one of real merit.

Headed by the veteran handbell ringer of the age, Mr T. Eckhardt, the company was comprised of Mr and Mrs T. Eckhardt junior, Miss Ella Gilbert and "Baby" Bella Johnson, and the whole were an exceedingly versatile bunch.

The handbell selections were of a high order and the innovation of singing numbers with the bell melodies was a pleasing feature, while the several vandeville items by Mr and Mrs Eckhardt were well worthy of the vociferous applause accorded them.

Miss Johnson's dancing was good, although she betrayed a vocal weakness in her scotch character songs; this being something which no doubt age will overcome. Miss Gilbert at the piano and "Young Tommy" on the slide trombone were good and received hearty applause.

A pleasant little dance was enjoyed by a large number at the conclusion of the concert, the artistes of the evening supplying the music.

Back To The Farm Only Assured Road To Real Livelihood

Business slackness and unemployment in the United States are said to be producing a movement towards the farm. While there were 4000 abandoned farms in New England last fall, this summer there are only 800. Mr Chester Jones says, in the New York Times, that unemployment is filling jobs on the farms, and also stimulating small farm enterprises. Many a man out of a job seeing his savings dwindle, looks for a farm that will stand between him and starvation. Since the first of the year 70 p. c. of the requests for farm information has come from the city. The States of the southwest are producing the biggest crop since 1915. As to the fulness. There is its effect on the railroads. A big crop necessitates heavy transportation. Railroad men say they have the necessary rolling stock on hand to carry it in a short time, and they add that this stimulus to transportation will help materially in pulling them out of the depression. The bankers and the business men at the cattle pool convention, held in Chicago a little while ago, stated that if a large part of the crop was marketed within the next three months as the market indicates it will be, it would help to relieve the whole financial situation throughout the country."

Agricultural prosperity means general properity, and in the present state of the world, with famine in Russia following famine in China, we need hardly fear overproduction in food.

Disarmament and the Individual Citizen

The outstanding question in world politics today is disarmament—the reaching of some international understanding which will put an end to the feverish race between nations to outdo each other in the raising and equipping of enormous armies, the construction of great navies, the inauguration of powerful aerial squadrons, and the development of chemicals and the sciences along channels of destruction, and, with a cessation of such unholy and savage activities bring about an enormous lessening of the burden of taxation and the devotion of national revenues to the improvement of the physical and educational well-being of the people.

Everybody is concerned in the consummation of such an international understanding, but the average man and woman nevertheless looks upon the problem of arriving at an agreement as being the sole business and responsibility of Governments and statesmen; in a word, of those for the time being in authority in their respective countries. As a result, the average man and woman takes only an academic interest in this outstanding question, and proceeds daily to think, speak and act in a manner which operates to make the realization of world disarmament extremely difficult.

With the defeat of Germany and the abdication of the Kaiser, the overthrow of Russian Czardom, the smash-up of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, and the breaking-up of the old Turkish Empire, the last remaining strongholds of old world militarism and autocracy came to an end. With the exception of Russia, which is still undergoing the birth pangs of its new regeneration, the leading nations of the world are now under a democratic form of government. That is to say, the people are themselves the rulers and the arbiters of their own national fate. They, and they alone, can definitely and permanently decide upon national policy. Governments are the creatures of the people, and are controlled, made and un-made by the votes of the people. To an ever increasing degree, too, the women have an equal voice with the men in determining the fate of Governments and the national policies of their homeland. If the people once make up their minds that there shall be disarmament, that they will no longer pour out their hard won earnings to be used to supply machines of war wherewith to destroy their fellowmen, Governments will, because they must, obey.

There is, however, it must be admitted, a fighting instinct inborn in the whole human race. It cannot be wholly eradicated, nor would it be well for the race if it were. It is the instinct which leads the race to push ever onward and overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles. It is the fighting instinct which makes for progress. But the time is long since past when that instinct should be so perverted as to result in a striving for mastery of others through the brutal, animal method of destruction—the employment of strong arm methods against the weak.

After all, what is one of the most fruitful sources of national ill-will, leading to the making of warlike preparations by one racial group of people against another? Is is not to be found in the pin-pricking policy which so many people thoughtlessly indulge in at the expense of the people of another race, color or nationality? The people of one country make ridicule of the habits and customs of another. This is resented and a feeling of animosity and ill-will is engendered whereas a mutual recognition of each other's good qualities, which is just as easy of cultivation, would quickly develop a feeling of admiration.

The newspapers of a country quickly reflect the views and feelings of the people among whom they circulate. If there is a pin-pricking tendency among the people, it is not long before the press is engaged in it, and the sharp sayings of the press in one land are quickly seized upon by the press in another country, and soon a wordy warfare is on stirring up the passions and prejudices of one nation and people against another, and forever cultivating ill-feelings by raking up all the old quarrels and troubles of bygone ages. Visitors from a foreign country are chagrined and humiliated by careless remarks about their country, flag or people, and they return home entertaining anything but cordial feelings towards the country in which such remarks are uttered. Thus, from comparatively trivial cause, there arise those national misconceptions and distrust of other peoples which, when some difference of opinion occurs between two countries, are quickly fanned into a flame and a condition of public opinion created which makes it extremely difficult, if not impossible, for the Governments of the opposing countries to make necessary compromises in order to reach an amicable settlement. And it is against just such contingencies that armaments are maintained.

The ordinary citizen can, therefore, do much to bring about world disarmament by merely keeping a close watch upon his tongue and by steadfastly refusing to indulge in, what is after all more or less senseless and certainly utterly futile, carping at and criticism of other nations, races and people.

Population Of Britain Increased

New Census Shows Increase of 4.7 Per Cent.

Over Seven Thousand Enter Canada From U.S. in Six Months

A total of 7,110 persons entered Western Canada from the United States during the six months ending June 30, 1921. They brought with them personal wealth to the value of $2,445,804, and effects worth $707,453. Out of the total number of immigrants, 2,600 gave their occupations as agriculturists, and will engage in farming on the prairies. Of the total 4,892 were United States citizens, while the balance 2,218 were composed of Britishers, Frenchmen, Canadians, and Scandinavians.

Tuberculosis In Cattle

How the Accredited Herd Plan is Accomplishing the Work of Eradication.

British health officers believe that if tuberculosis could be entirely eradicated from dairy cattle, the complaint would be reduced at least fifty per cent. in human beings. How necessary efforts in this direction become may thus be well understood. By co-operation between the Dominion and provincial departments of agriculture a great deal has been, and is being accomplished. Canada has been proved to possess the healthiest live stock of any country. The adoption of the Accredited Herd Plan is in the way of achieving much toward the perpetuation of good health, particularly in our dairy cattle. In 1917 the plan was introduced in the United States, and has proven eminently successful. Two years later it was adopted in this country, and already there is evidence of much good having been brought about, especially as animals belonging to herds proven to be absolutely clean and in receipt of certificates to that effect can be freely exported to the United States. At the end of July last in this country 522 herds were undergoing the tuberculin test to enable them to qualify for certificates. At the same time there were 100 names of herd proprietors on the waiting list, and so numerous were the applications for the service, and the consequent demands upon the Health of Animals staff, that over 220 others had to be temporarily refused. Up to the period mentioned no fewer than 30,362 tests and retests had been made and 3,319 re-actors had been condemned necessitating the payment of $396,464 in compensation. The extent of the work carried on in the United States will be understood when it is stated that this year Congress at Washington voted five million dollars for compensation and salaries. To receive a certificate of accreditation a herd must pass three semi-annual tests without a reactor, and at the end of a year be subject to another test. So far the work has been confined to pure-bred herds, but there is a likelihood of its being extended, with increased grants for expenditure, to commercial grade herds of dairy cattle.

Better Work Than Strike

The Farmer Cannot Carry-on Without a Margin of Profit

The O. B. U. promoters want the harvesters to organize in order to compel the farmers to pay higher wages. That was to be expected. The agitator lives by agitating. In this case he may not succeed even in degree. The farmer is not in prospect of growing wealthy out of the proceeds of the present crop, even at the prevailing cost of harvesting and delivering it. If that cost were substantially increased it would mean that fewer harvest hands would get employment even if part of the crop had to go uncut. The farmer cannot carry-on without a margin of profit, and if operating costs eat up his chances of profit there is nothing for him to do but leave the grain in the field. The harvesters cannot hold up the farmer for more than he can afford to pay; and he says that he is now paying all he can pay.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Fifty years ago this month the New York Herald, then an outstanding paper, contained this sentence: "Instead of yielding to British interests or proclivities, the United States ought to adopt a policy of firm but kindly pressure to bring about the annexation of Canada to the great Republic." Good Low Cost Meals

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

We are two women past thirty. With the general downward trend of prices, we find our salaries reduced. We have decided to quit our somewhat fashionable boarding-house and rent a few housekeeping rooms. The "What to Eat" problem bothers us. I might say we will be able to get home at noon to luncheon, for we are selecting rooms close to the office. Will you be good enough to outline inexpensive, nourishing meals for several days?"

A fireless cooker is a wonderful help to working women. A hot-cold bottle is another aid. Carefully plan a week's meals on paper. Then from the list do as much shopping for staples and semi-perishables, like butter and eggs, as possible, on one trip.

If you have a good baker in your neighborhood buy your cake and pie as well as your bread if time and energy are at a premium.

Soldier Settlers Making Good

Soldier settlers in Saskatchewan are making "good." There are now fifty-five settlers on the Piapot Reserve, and these men have an average of seventy-five acres each cultivated this year. There are more than 2,200 acres in crop and 3,000 additional acres broken. The soldiers are enthusiastic regarding crop prospects and anticipate a thirty-five bushel yield.

Shipment of Northern Furs

A carload of northern caught furs representing one-half of the Hudson's Bay Company's catch from the Mackenzie River posts left Edmonton recently for London, England. It comprised about eight tons of assorted pelts. The total value of the fur pack received in Edmonton to date is nearly $750,000.

Has Way To Drive Planes By Steam

Inventor Claims Soaring Power Will Be Greatly Increased

Invention of a system of steam propulsion for airships is claimed by Captain W. P. Purtnall, who was a British naval officer during the war. It is maintained that the new system will function at altitudes hitherto unattainable with the ordinary type of internal combustion engine.

The invention is said to do away completely with the ordinary boiler, the steam being generated by means of internal-combustion power or heat energy. The superheated steam heat energy is supplied to special steam motors which are reversable and can be controlled from a central control station.

Only heavy oil is used as fuel and it is claimed that the driving machinery can be safely placed inside the frame of the airship instead of in separate gondolas outside, thus bringing about a great reduction in air resistance and consequently reducing the power required for propulsion. The engine or "steam motors," as Captain Burtnall calls them, are of the double-acting type requiring no flywheels.

Value Of Irrigation

Demonstrated on the Large Irrigated Areas in Southern Alberta

The value of irrigation in insuring good crops season after season is again being demonstrated on the large irrigated areas in Southern Alberta operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway. All irrigated crops are in fine conditions, wheat yields running from twenty to forty bushels an acre. First cuttings of alfalfa have been very satisfactory and outlook for the second favorable. Considerable alfalfa seed is also being produced.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic diarrhoea and dysentry come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend

Farmer's Wife Pays Debt Of Gratitude By Relating Experience

"If I could say just what is in my heart to say about Tanlac, everybody who suffers like I did would go out and get a bottle at once," said Mrs. A. Pieper, wife of a well-known farmer living at Cottonwood, Sask.

"For years I had indigestion so bad that I couldn't eat a thing without suffering misery after words. Nothing agreed with me, and at times I was so bloated up with gas I would have awful smothering spells. My nerves were in a terrible state, and I was bothered a good deal with constipation. I also had violent headaches, and at nights slept so little I never felt like getting out of bed in the morning.

"Tanlac benefited me in every way and I feel like a different person now. I eat three hearty meals a day and never have a sign of indigestion. My headaches are gone and I sleep all night without waking, and when I get up in the mornings I am as bright and cheerful as I was when I was a girl. I feel I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Tanlac, and the only way I know how to repay it is to tell people about what it did for me."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Knowing Motor Car's Age

Among the ever-increasing volumes of collected information on specific subjects is a motor car index, published in London, which, according to the notice, has been compiled for the purpose of enabling any one to tell the age of any motor car under examination. Apparently the way is now clear for modernizing a seriously antiquated saying. It would, of course, now read: "Do not look a gift car in the index."—Christian Science Monitor.

For years I have never considered my stock of household remedies complete unless a bottle of Minard's Liniment was included. For burns, bruises, sprains, frostbites or chilblains it excells, and I know of no better remedy for a severe cold in the head, or that will give more immediate relief, than to inhale through the nasal organ.

And as to my supply of veterinary remedies it is essential, as it has in very many instances proven its value. A recent experience in reclaiming what was supposed to be a lost section of a valuable cows udder has again demonstrated its great worth and prompts me to recommend it in the highest terms to all who have a herd of cows, large or small. I think I am safe in saying among all the patent medicines there is none that covers as large a field of usefulness as does—Minard's Liniment. A real truism good for man or beast.

ELEANOR H. PORTER

Printed by Special Arrangements with Thos. Allen, Toronto, Ont.

"None, perhaps," still smiled Mr. Smith good-humoredly.

"Why don't you let them alone, then? What do you expect to find?"

"Why, I—I—" Mr. Smith was plainly nonplused.

"Well, I can tell you it's a silly business, whatever you find. If you find your grandfather's a bigger man than you are, you'll be proud of it, but you ought to be ashamed of him 'cause you aren't bigger yourself! On the other hand, if you find he isn't as big as you are, you'll be ashamed of that, when you ought to be proud of it—'cause you've gone him one better. But you won't. I know your kind. I've seen you before. But can't you do any work, real work?"

"He is doing work, real work, now, father," interposed Miss Maggie quickly. "He's having a woeful time, too. If you'd only help him, now, and show him those papers."

A real terror came into Mr. Smith's eyes, but Mr. Duff was already on his feet.

"Well, I shan't," he observed tartly. "I'm not a fool, if he is. I am going out to the porch where I can get some air."

"There, work as long as you like, Mr. Smith. I knew you'd rather work by yourself," nodded Miss Maggie, moving the piles of papers nearer him.

"But, good Heavens, how do you stand—" exploded Mr. Smith before he realized that this time he had really said the words aloud. He blushed a painful red.

Miss Maggie, too, colored. Then, abruptly, she laughed.

"After all, it doesn't matter. Why shouldn't I be frank with you? You couldn't help seeing—how things were, of course, and I forgot, for a moment, that you were a stranger. Everybody in Hillerton understands. You see, father is nervous, and not at all well. We have to humor him."

"But do you mean that you always have to tell him to do what you don't want, in order to—well—that is—" Mr. Smith, finding himself in very deep water, blushed again painfully.

Miss Maggie met his dismayed gaze with cheerful candor.

"Tell him to do what I don't want in order to get him to do what I do want him to? Yes, oh, yes. But I don't mind; really I don't. I'm used to it now. And when you know how, what does it matter? After all, where is the difference? To most of the world we say, 'Please do,' when we want a thing, while to him we have to say, 'Please don't.' That's all. You see, it's really very simple—when you know how."

"Simple! Great Scott!" muttered Mr. Smith. He wanted to say more; but Miss Maggie, with a smiling nod, turned away, so he went back to his work.

Benny, wandering in from the kitchen, with both hands full of cookies, plumped himself down on the cushioned window-seat, and drew a sigh of content.

"Say, Aunt Maggie."

"Yes, dear."

"Can I come ter live with you?"

"Certainly not!" The blithe voice and pleasant smile took all the sting from the prompt refusal. "What would father and mother do?"

"Oh, they wouldn't mind."

"Benny!"

"They wouldn't. Maybe pa would—a little; but Bess and ma wouldn't. And I'd like it."

"Nonsense, Benny!" Miss Maggie crossed to a little stand and picked up a small box. "There's a nice picture puzzle. See if you can do it."

Benny shifted his now depleted stock of cookies to one hand, dropped to his knees on the floor, and dumped the contents of the box upon the seat before him.

"They won't let me eat cookies any more at home—in the house, I mean. Too many crumbs."

"But you know you have to pick up your crumbs here, dear."

"Yep, but I don't mind—after I've had the fun of eatin' first. But they won't let me drop 'em ter begin with, there, nor take any of the boys inter the house. Honest, Aunt Maggie, there ain't anything a feller can do, seems so, if ye live on the West Side," he persisted soberly.

Mr. Smith, tapping dates at the table, was conscious of a slightly apprehensive glance in his direction from Miss Maggie's eyes, as she murmured:—

"But you're forgetting your puzzle, Benny. You've put only five pieces together."

"I can't do puzzles there, either," Benny's voice was still mournful.

"All the more reason, then, why you should like to do them here. See, where does this dog's head go?"

Listlessly Benny took the bit of pictured wood in his fingers and began to fit it into the pattern before him.

"I used ter do 'em an' leave 'em 'round, but ma says I can't now. Callers might come and find 'em, an' what would they say—on the West Side! An' that's the way it is with everything. Ma an' Bess are always doin' things, or not doin' 'em, for those callers. An' I don't see why. They never come—not new ones."

"Yes, yes, dear, but they will, when they get acquainted. You haven't found where the dog's head goes yet."

"Pa says he don't want ter get acquainted. He'd rather have the old friends, what don't mind baked beans an' shirt-sleeves, an' doin' yer own work, an' what thinks more of yer heart than they do of yer pocket-book. But ma wants a hired girl. An' say, we have ter wash our hands every meal now—on the table, I mean—in those little glass wash-dishes. Ma went down an' bought some, an' she's usin' 'em every day, so's ter get used to 'em. She says everybody that is anybody has 'em nowadays. Bess thinks they're great, but I don't. I don't like 'em a mite."

"Oh, come, come, Benny! It does n't matter,—it doesn't really matter, does it, if you do have to use the little dishes? Come, you're not half doing the puzzle."

"I know it." Benny shifted his position, and picked up a three-cornered bit of wood carrying the picture of a dog's paw. "But I was just thinkin'. You see, things are so different—on the West Side. Why even pa—he's different. He isn't there hardly any now. He's got a new job."

"What?" Miss Maggie turned from the puzzle with a start.

"Oh, just for evenin's. It's keepin' books for a man. It brings in quite a lot extry, ma says but she wouldn't let me have some new roller-skates when mine broke. She's savin' up for a chafin' dish. What's a chafin' dish? Do you know? You eat out of it some way—I mean, it cooks things ter eat; an' Bess wants one. Gussie Pennock's got one. All our eats's different, 'seems so, on the West Side. Ma has dinners nights now, instead of noons. She says the Pennocks do, an' everybody does who is anybody. But I don't like it. Pa don't, either, an' half the time he can't get home in time for it, anyhow, on account of gettin' back to his new job, ye know, an' ——"

"Oh, I've found where the dog's head goes," cried Miss Maggie. There was a hint of desperation in her voice. "I shall have your puzzle all done for you myself, if you don't look out, Benny. I don't believe you can do it, anyhow."

"I can, too. You just see if I can't!" retorted Benny, with sudden spirit, falling to work in earnest. "I never saw a puzzle yet I couldn't do!"

Mr. Smith, bending assiduously over his work at the table, heard Miss Maggie's sigh of relief—and echoed it, from sympathy.

CHAPTER VII

Poor Maggie and Some Others

It was half an hour later, when Mr. Smith and Benny were walking across the common together, that Benny asked an abrupt question.

"Is Aunt Maggie goin' ter be put in your book, Mr. Smith?"

"Why—yes; her name will be entered as the daughter of the man who married the Widow Blaisdell, probably. Why?"

"Nothin'. I was only thinkin'. I hoped she was. Aunt Maggie don't have nothin' much, yer know, except her father an' housework—housework either for him or some of us. An' I guess she's had quite a lot of things ter bother her, an' make her feel bad, so I hoped she'd be in the book. Though if she wasn't, she'd just laugh an' say it doesn't matter, of course. That's what she always says."

"Always says?" Mr. Smith's voice was mildly puzzled.

"Yes, when things plague, an' something don't go right. She says it 'elps a lot ter just remember that it doesn't matter. See?"

"Well, no,—I don't think I do see," frowned Mr. Smith.

"Oh, yes," plunged in Benny; "cause you see, if ye stop ter think about it,—this thing that's plaguin' ye—you'll see how really small an' no-account it is, an' how, when you put it beside really big things, it doesn't matter at all—it doesn't really matter, ye know. Aunt Maggie says she's done it years an' years, ever since she was just a girl, an' somethin' bothered her; an' it's helped a lot."

"But there are lots of things that do matter," persisted Mr. Smith, still frowning.

"Oh, yes!" Benny swelled a bit importantly. "I know what you mean. Aunt Maggie says that, too; an' she says we must be very careful and not get it wrong. It's only the little things that bother us, an' that we wish were different, that we must say 'It doesn't matter' about. It don't matter whether we're good an' kind an' tell the truth an' shame the devil; but it doesn't matter whether we have ter live on the West Side an' eat dinner nights instead of noons, an' not eat cookies any of the time in the house,—see?"

"Good for you, Benny,—and good for Aunt Maggie!" laughed Mr. Smith suddenly.

"Aunt Maggie? Oh, you don't know Aunt Maggie, yet. She's always tryin' ter make people think things don't matter. You'll see!" crowed Benny.

A moment later he had turned down his own street, and Mr. Smith was left to go on alone.

Very often, in the days that followed, Mr. Smith thought of this speech of Benny's. He had opportunity to verify it, for he was seeing a good deal of Miss Maggie, and it seemed, indeed, to him that half the town was coming to her to learn that something "didn't matter"—though very seldom, except to Benny, did he hear her say the words themselves. It was merely that to her would come men, women, and children, each with a sorry tale of discontent or disappointment. And it was always as if they left with their burden, for when they turned away, head and shoulders were erect office more eyes were bright, and the step was alert and eager.

He used to wonder how she did it. For that matter, he wondered how she did—a great many things.

Mr. Smith was, indeed, seeing a good deal of Miss Maggie these days. He told himself that it was the records that attracted him. But he did not always copy records. Sometimes he just sat in one of the comfortable chairs and watched Miss Maggie, content if she gave him a word now and then.

He liked the way she carried her head, and the way her hair waved away from her shapely forehead. He liked the quiet strength of the way her capable hands lay motionless in her lap when their services were not required. He liked to watch for the twinkle in her eye, and for the dimple in her cheek that told a smile was coming. He liked to hear her talk to Benny. He even liked to hear her talk to her father—when he could control his temper sufficiently. Best of all he liked his own comfortable feeling of being quite at home, and at peace with all the world—the feeling that always came to him now whenever he entered the house, in spite of the fact that the welcome accorded him by Mr. Duff was hardly more friendly than at the first.

Moose Move North To Evade Settlers

In Future Hunters Will Have to Travel Further

Hunters of Saskatchewan will have to go further north this year in their search for big game, according to reports of guardians of the Provincial Government. Moose, particularly, officials state, are being driven farther into the bush country by the settlement that is spreading northward, but an early freeze-up that will allow nimrods to cross the muskeg country northeast of Prince Albert, will, if it comes this Fall, allow hunters to penetrate farther into the moose territory.

In spite of bad travelling, last year there were more moose shot by Saskatchewan licensed hunters than at any time in the past six seasons, according to Frederick Bradshaw, chief of the game branch of the Provincial Government.

"The extensive range of moose in Saskatchewan," Mr. Bradshaw said, "is indicated by the fact that specimens were taken in practically every township in the forest areas north of the North Saskatchewan River, from the Alberta boundary to a point on the river northeast of Fort a la Corne game preserve, and directly south of that point from the Crooked River to the Manitoba boundary. Settlement is gradually driving them north, however, and this season and in future hunters will have to travel further for rewards."

In the annual report of Mr. Bradshaw's department it states 1,120 moose were shot last year by licensed hunters. In 1919 the number killed amounted to 1,101. In 1918 there was very little big game hunting in the province, and only 456 moose were killed, but in the year before that 1,215 moose were shot during the open season.

In 1920, 900 deer were killed by Saskatchewan hunters, Mr. Bradshaw stated, and 80 caribou, a total of 2,200 head of big game. In 1915, which was considered a big year, 1,550 moose, elk, deer and caribou were shot.

Silken Cords Of Empire

South Africa Well Satisfied With Form of Government

The very elasticity of the British system is its strength. Get rid of that elasticity and you run the risk of something snapping. Today South Africa has all the benefits of full self-government, plus all the advantages of close association with powerful and wealthy countries. It may be possible to make the system work more smoothly. But that will never be done by limiting the rights of self-government which have been acquired. The Empire can grow and prosper on a league basis. It could not last as a close federation. We believe that all prominently associated with the Imperial Conference realize this and that they will concentrate on a league ideal.—From the Johannesburg Times.

Not the Answer He Expected

The schoolmaster was explaining things to the boys in his class. "For instance. I want to introduce water into the house. I turn it on. The pipes and every convenience are in order, but I get no water. Can any of you tell me why?"

He expected the children to see that it was because he had not made a connection with the main in the street.

The boys looked perplexed. They could not see why the water should refuse to run into his premises after such faultless plumbing.

"Can no one tell me what I have neglected?" reiterated the good man, looking at the many wondering faces bowed down by the weight of the problem.

"I know," squeaked one boy at last; "you don't pay up your water taxes."

Indications Point to Return of Normal Business Conditions

"Orders are coming in steadily and in increasing numbers," says A. E. Staley, of Decatur.

"We have unquestionably passed the worst," said E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation, in commenting on the poor showing made in the last quarter's report of the profits of that business.

Textile mills are beginning to run steadily in the south and east. One great cotton mill in Massachusetts put its spring fabric samples on view one day last week, and within three days the output of the mill for the entire season was taken by the wholesalers.

The signs are now really right. Foolish optimism is one of the most foolish of all business mistakes. The man who fools himself is the most badly fooled man in the list. But with a stabilization of values which has come within the last few weeks, there has come also the sounder business foundations, the higher productiveness of labor, the more careful and efficient management of affairs, so that the forward step which is taken now will be held. Gains now made are real, not imaginary or visionary, and they will be made greater as conditions continue to improve.

Indications are multiplying that while the country is far from back to the normal business prosperity, the upturn is gradually being made.—The Decatur Review.

If The Sun Went Out

Terrible Picture of What Would Happen to World

Wonderful things are constantly happening in the universe; but what if the sun were suddenly extinguished? asks Answers.

The earth and every living thing upon it would be doomed in a very short time.

Why, at the end of the first week the frost would have destroyed all but the hardiest of the vegetation.

Our lakes and rivers would freeze solid. Even our oceans would be soon turned to ice. And the ice, by its greater bulk compared with water, would encroach upon and overwhelm the land, until only the tops of the highest mountains would show above the glacial sea. These mountain-summits would themselves be covered with deep snow, or ice crystals, which had fallen because of the water vapor in the atmosphere having frozen.

Mankind would be destroyed to the utmost ends of the globe. Neither would the very lowest forms of organized creatures escape the icy death.

The stars would be always looking down upon our derelict earth, for it would be one long night. No bright shining moon would ever rise, for our satellite borrows its splendor from the sun.

The earth would not stop turning round on its axis, nor would it cease to revolve about the dead sun.

There are believed to be many dead suns in the universe, all travelling through space at great speed.

Would our dead sun be doomed to an eternal night?

Perhaps not. Perhaps, in the course of its wanderings—at a speed of about twelve miles a second—it might meet with another celestial derelict.

If so, then appalling would be the impact. Its light and heat would be revived. The sun, in brief, would be born again.

And what of that icy tomb, the earth? It would melt as a flake of snow in the fire.

Western Butter Scores High

Edmonton Secured Highest in Dominion for July Sample.

The quality of butter submitted to date by the provincial creameries in the Dominion educational scoring contest is better than in any previous year, according to the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, A. Biddick.

Edmonton City Dairy secured the highest score of any sample since the competition commenced in 1919, with 98 points for their July sample. The highest scoring sample for June was supplied by the Central Creameries, Calgary, with 97.5 points, and for May by the Shoal Lake Creamery, of Manitoba, with 97 points.

Official Organ-Grinder

London's official organ-grinder, who has been engaged by the London county council at a salary of 8 shillings a day, has cast a magic spell over poor children in many parts of the metropolis.

Every evening he goes to some open space or park where children play, and his appearance is acclaimed by hundreds of boys and girls, and as the music begins they join hands and dance.

The favorite tunes are "Swanee" and "Bubbles," and whether at Lincoln's Inn, W.C., or Limehouse, E., the children never fail to respond.

Our slogan for the coming year should be, "Buy at Home." Add to your own and your neighbor's prosperity by keeping the money circulating in our own district.

The first agricultural society in Great Britain was instituted in Scotland in 1723.

Beginning of Beekeeping

A Few Colonies of Bees Should Be Kept On Every Farm

The excellent yield of honey that bee-keepers in some quarters have enjoyed this season will no doubt have the effect of stimulating interest in the business of keeping bees. In well kept favourably located apiaries this year yields of upwards of 100 pounds per colony of excellent honey have been extracted. All years have not been as good as this for honey production, but there have been few failure years. In any case bees are not expensive to keep, and their feeding is usually taken care of without direct outlay. Unless one has an aversion to keeping bees, there is very little reason why at least a few colonies could not be kept on every farm. Honey has a claim to be regularly used in every home because of the delicacy of its flavour and for its food value. There are an increasing number of people who make bee-keeping their principal business. The amount of extracted honey that may be obtained from a well-managed colony of bees varies with years and localities. From 30 to 120 pounds per colony is set down by the Dominion Apiarist in Bulletin No. 26, as the yield for an average year.

While the spring is the best time of the year to begin bee-keeping, it is not necessary to wait until that season to learn something of the business, indeed one cannot become too well versed in the handling of any new business before undertaking it. Occasion should be taken to visit successful bee-keepers to see how the hive is constructed and the bees handled; also to learn by question and answer many things about bees and their management, which are not nearly so easily acquired by the perusal of books. It is a mistake to start on a large scale. One or two colonies are enough to begin with. When experience has been gained the number may be increased. Nothing is more discouraging to the beginner after he has gone extensively into bee-keeping than to lose most of the bees through bad wintering or some other cause, all from the want of a little experience. It is a good plan to make the bees pay their way after the first outlay. If one desires to go into bee-keeping and the opportunity of securing a few colonies this autumn presents itself, it may be good business to take advantage of it. The question of wintering then becomes an immediate problem, and it is best as a rule to follow instructions obtained from successful bee-keepers in the neighborhood. Bees do not become torpid in winter like other insects, but they generate heat and consume their stores in so doing. Successful wintering depends principally upon the number of bees in the cluster, the youth of the bees, sufficient and wholesome stores, and protection from cold. When good protection is provided the bees do not need to produce so much heat; consequently, less stores are consumed and there is less drain upon the vitality of the bees. To winter satisfactorily, each colony requires to have a good fertile queen and enough bees to crowd between seven to ten combs. Weak colonies may have to be united. To get plenty of bees reared in September in regions where but little honey is gathered during those months, the queen should be one that has been reared during the summer, that is to say, she must be young and vigorous. Each colony should have 30 to 45 pounds of wholesome sealed stores, depending on the intensity of the cold and condition of the storage quarters. Bulletin No. 26, to which reference has been made, obtained from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, gives detail for both cellar and out-door wintering, and other information of much value to bee-keepers whether they live in Ontario or some other part of Canada.

The smallest apartment houses are those occupied by bees. In a cubic foot of honeycomb there are about 9,000 cells.

For some women it's never too late to pretend.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Paying The Piper

People Must Deny Themselves to Restore Normal Conditions

The penalties the war imposed have to be met; they are not to be dodged or to be passed on. All have to pay. It is all very well to say that we must maintain the old high standard of living, but it cannot be done. The world is too much impoverished by the struggle through which the nations have passed to admit of no privations. If this country, if any of the countries concerned—and which of them is not—is to get back to normal conditions its people of all classes must, for a time, deny themselves some pleasure, some indulgences, some conveniences to which they were accustomed in the pre-war days.—The Western Mail.

New York Wants Alberta Butter

Dealers in Edmonton Receive Order For 1,000,000 Pounds

Butter from the Edmonton district is in demand, and one of the largest orders ever recorded there was placed recently when Paul de Wolff, of Sardis, B.C., asked local dealers to supply him with 1,000,000 destined for the New York market. A million pounds order is a big one to fill, but agents at half a dozen or more other central Alberta points are also being asked to assist in filling the order.

A Smoking Bullfrog

A bullfrog that smokes is a curiosity lurking somewhere in Nichewang Lake, near Petersham, Mass. When in camp there the other evening, Harlan Ballard, noted scholar and author of Pittsfield, Mass., cast a lighted cigar in the water. Promptly a huge amphibian leaped after it, grabbed the unlighted end and swam to a rock, where it enjoyed a smoke for ten minutes. Afterwards the frog gave a concert, which indicated no illness. Mr. Ballard is trying to secure it for the Berkshire museum of which he is curator.

WHICH CLASS DO YOU BELONG

There are three classes of people in the average church or lodge organisation—The Reliables, the Unreliables and the Liables. On those who make up the first class you can depend absolutely and always. May their tribe increase! On those of the second class you can never depend. They have attained to a certain sort of reliability in being always unreliable. They may as well be crossed out of any reckoning of expectations of service or use. It is perhaps those of the third class that most bring gray hairs and wrinkles of anxiety to the pastor and officers and to those charged with the administration of affairs; the Liables. You never know how to take them. It is a matter of guesswork pure and simple. They may do the work, carry the message, fulfil the obligation resting upon them—and then, again they may not. They are liable to be right, and just as liable to be wrong. They will run steadily and without a break one mile, and shy the road a dozen times in the next. They are just faithful enough to encourage confidence and just unfaithful enough to destroy it. Very wearing people, the Liables!

RELIEF IN SIGHT

The prompt action taken by Premier Meighen to secure relief for the livestock industry will give general satisfaction in Western Canada.

As soon as the facts of the case were presented to him the Prime Minister conferred with the minister of Agriculture Hon Dr Tolmie Sir Henry Drayton Minister of Finance, and the officials of the Canadian Bankers' association. The outcome of their deliberation was an immediate decision to co-operate in saving the livestock industry from the disaster that is threatening it.

Premier Meighen's presentation of the situation to the banks has resulted in two lines of action. In the first place the banks agree that all reasonable credit will be extended to deserving borrowers against livestock, especially with regard to renewals, and that no undue pressue will be brought to bear for payments until a reasonable improvement in market conditions has been shown.

The government supplements this agreement by guaranteeing an advance of $10,000,000. which the banks will make to livestock men. The Ottawa dispatch concerning this advance is not very explicit. It speaks of furnishing fodder where this is lacking. This sort of relief will be needed in Quebec and in parts of Ontario, but not in the West It is assumed that this fund will be utilized in the West to help tide emergency cases over until conditions improve. Later details and advices to bank managers in the West, will clear up this point.

The government also undertakes to provide cattle ships for shipments to Britain. This will unquestionably prove a helpful provision. The lack of dependable shipping facilities has been the cause of much trouble and expense to livestock men who have felt that the government could properly turn some of the vessels of the Canadian merchants marine to the purposes of this trade. Shipments of cattle to England—especially from the East—have been rapidly increasing of late, and this market can be successfully cultivated.

WATERTON LAKES PARK REDUCED IN AREA

By an Order in Council dated the 20th of July, 1921 a change has been made in the boundary between the Crows' Nest Forest Reserve and Waterton Lakes Park. Since 1917 there has been joint administration by the Forestry Branch and the Parks Branch of the area comprising 294 square miles between the Carbondale River on the North and the South Fork of Yarrow Creek on the South. The protection of game was handled by the officials of the Waterton Lakes Park while all other matters were administered by the Crows' Nest Forest Reserve officials. It has been considered advisable to discontinue the joint administration of this area which will now be wholly administered by the Dominion Forestry Branch.

There is no reduction, however, in the Game Preserve and the public shall bear in mind that the carrying of firearms will not be permitted in the Crows' Nest Forest Reserve, south of the Carbondale River.

WHEAT CUTTING IN WESTERN PROVINCES NEARING COMPLETION

Advice from Winnipeg state that wheat cutting in the three prairie provinces is near completion, according to the crop review of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

With the exception of a few districts in the northwestern portion, wheat cutting in Manitoba is about complete, and threshing south of the main line is from 25 to 50 per cent. completed. Oats are about sixty per cent. cut. Returns from threshing machines run from 12to 18 bushels, which are more than offset by other districts going as high as 25 bushels. No damage from frost has been reported.

Saskatchewan reports from 80 to 100 per cent. of the wheat cut in districts south of the main line, and oats from 60 to 90 per cent. cut. The northern districts show 65 to 90 per cent. of the wheat cut and from 40 to 60 per cent of the oats in stook. Threshing in the southern district of this province has commenced. It will not commence generally in the northern section until next week. Slight frosts which caused no damage have been reported. Few points report some damage from hail.

Some districts in Southern Alberta show wheat cutting completely finished, while other sections report from 75 to 80 per cent cut. Very little threshing has been done in the south, and it will not commence generally in the north until about September 5. Wheat on summerfallow in the south is yielding much better than was anticipated a few weeks ago, and conditions generally are much better for feed, owing to recent rains than was hoped for.

Slight frosts were recorded in some points in central and Northern Alberta, but without damage.

Very heavy yields are looked for along the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway. Cutting at the end of last week was fairly general and no damage has been reported yet.

HEDGES WILL TURN THE PRAIRIES INTO A LAND OF GARDENS

Because I have seen on the prairies, and especially around Winnipeg and at such places as Indian Head, some of the finest gardens that could possibly be seen anywhere in Canada, I say the time will come when these prairies will be hedged and dotted with gardens of blooming flowers of ripening fruits and of delicious vegetables. They exist today. I may mention, especially the Dominion Forestry Branch Nursery Station at Indian Head, because that does not come under my own department; nothing could be more exquisite, more perfect than is that magnificent garden. But before the prairies can have gardens they must have hedges for their windbreaks. Set your hedge and you may look for your garden. The hedges are coming. The Dominion Experimental Farms have far more than paid for themselves by the wide distribution which has been given to the caragana hedge which the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, introduced from Russia.—Prof. W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist. Ottawa.

DR. FOWLER'S
EXTRACT OF
WILD STRAWBERRY

When you are troubled with diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera morbus, summer complaint, bloody fluxes, or any looseness of the bowels be sure and obtain a bottle of "Dr. Fowler's" and see how quickly it gives you relief. This wonderful remedy has been on the market for the past 76 years and we wish to warn you against accepting a substitute which may be dangerous to your health.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N.S., writes:—"While visiting in Western Canada I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. After trying many proprietary medicines I got no relief but kept getting worse, quickly I was advised to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I lost no time in doing so. I cannot hesitate in recommending it most highly, for when I had not yet taken half the bottle I was relieved. I must say that if "Dr. Fowler's" is given a fair trial it will show its good qualities."

The price of the genuine is 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Live Stock Industry

Want Action Taken to Secure Market in U.S.

C. W. Peterson, western editor and rancher, suggests the formation of a Canadian pool consisting of government representatives, bankers, breeders, and capitalists to form an effective line of defence in view of the present condition of the live stock industry in Western Canada. He urged that immediate diplomatic negotiations be opened with the United States to procure for Canada free entry for animals and animal products, pleading that even an unlimited overseas market could not be compared with free access to the Chicago market. He believed that if the situation were placed before the Canadian public and they were appealed to there would be no trouble in subscribing $100,000,000 for the pool.

A Woman Homesteader

City Girl Makes a Success of Farming in Western Canada

Another name added to the list of women who are successfully operating farms in Western Canada is that of May V. Hazlett, an English girl who for four years has lived alone on a homestead in the Touchwood Hills, and made it pay. Her brother, who homesteaded the land, was killed in the Canadian forces at Vimy Ridge, and Miss Hazlett, who was working as a stenographer, and tired of the eternal pounding, determined to go contrary to the advice to sell the farm and though she had never lived in the country, decided to operate it herself. Success has attended her efforts and she now owns several head of horses, a fine bunch of cattle, and has more than one hundred acres under cultivation. She is again reversing the order of things as having built a Western home she is returning to England to marry her fiance and bring him out to the Saskatchewan farm. She is an ardent advocate of homesteads for women.

Man's Amazing Endurance

Capacity of The Human Animal to Bear Privation.

If there is one thing which has been made clear to us in the last six years it is that communities and individuals have a capacity for endurance far exceeding all rational estimates in the previous years, says the Westminster Gazette. The enemy endures for years on a diet which by all scientific tests is insufficient to support life for more than a few months; the hunger striker who ought to have died in three weeks lives on for six or seven; the nation which is manifestly bankrupt carries on with all the appearance of solvency and even prosperity for an apparently unlimited time; the strike which ought to have ended in complete exhaustion at the end of a month continues unabated after two months, and the community which ought to have been strangled by it is alive and cheerful and comparatively indifferent.

American Capital Interested

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 4.

FROM PHILIPPI TO ATHENS.

I. Paul and Silas in Jail (vv. 19-26).

1. The occasion (vv. 19-24). When the demon was cast out of the maid her supernatural power was gone; therefore, the source of revenue was dried up. This so exasperated her owners that they had Paul and Silas arraigned before the magistrates on a false charge. Those men ought to have rejoiced that such a blessing had come to this poor girl. They cared more for their gain than for her welfare. This is true of the iniquitous crowding together of the poor in unsanitary quarters in our tenement districts and the neglect of precautions for the safety of employees in shops and stores. Without any chance to defend themselves they were stripped and beaten by the angry mob and then remanded to jail, and were made fast in stocks in the inner prison.

2. Their behavior in jail (v. 25). They were praying and singing hymns to God. It seems quite natural that they should pray under such conditions, but to sing hymns under such circumstances is astonishing to all who have not come into possession of the peace of God through Christ. Even with their backs lacerated and smarting, and feet fast in stocks compelling the most painful attitude in the dungeon darkness of the inner prison, with a morrow before them filled with extreme uncertainty, their hearts went up to God in gratitude.

3. The deliverance (v. 26). The Lord wrought deliverance by sending a great earthquake which opened the prison doors and removed the chains from all hands.

II. The Conversion of the Jailer (vv. 27-34).

The jailer's sympathy did not go out very far for the prisoners, for after they were made secure he went to sleep. The earthquake suddenly aroused him. He was about to kill himself, whereupon Paul assured him that the prisoners were all safe. This was too much for him. What he had heard of their preaching and now what he had experienced caused him to come as a humble inquirer after salvation. Paul clearly pointed out the way to be saved—"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." The word "believe" means to yield to and fully obey. The proof that the jailer was saved is threefold:

1. Transformation from brutality to tenderness.

2. Confession of Christ in baptism.

3. His whole household baptised.

III. The Magistrates Humbled (vv. 35-40).

The earthquake brought fear upon the magistrates. They gave leave for the prisoners to go, but now they refuse to go, claiming that their rights as Roman citizens have been violated, and demand a public vindication. Paul was willing to suffer for Christ's sake, but he used the occasion to show them that persecuting men who preach the gospel is an offense against the law of God and man.

IV. Preaching in Thessalonica (vv. 17-19).

At Thessalonica he found open hearts. He followed his usual custom of going first to the Jew (v. 1). After witnessing to the Jews he went to the Gentiles. Concerning the Christ he affirmed:

1. "It behooved Christ to suffer" (v. 3). No plainer teaching is to be found anywhere than the suffering of Christ (Isa. 53).

2. The resurrection of Christ from the dead (v. 3).

3. The kingship of Jesus (v. 7).

The result of this preaching was that many Greeks, some Jews believed.

V. Preaching in Berea.

His method here was the same as at Thessalonica. He entered the Jewish synagogue and preached Jesus unto them. The Bereans received the gospel with glad hearts. Two striking things were said about them:

1. They received the message gladly.

2. They searched the Scriptures daily for the truthfulness of their preaching. All noble minds have (1) an openness to receive the truth; (2) a balanced hesitancy; (3) a subjection to rightful authority.

Where Winbreaks Are Necessary

Gardens on Prairies Must Be Protected by Hedges

That the time will come when the prairies will be hedged and dotted with gardens and blooming flowers, of ripening fruits and of delicious vegetables, was the prediction made recently by W. Macoun, horticulturist of the Dominion Experimental Farms, who has almost completed a tour of inspection of the Dominion's experimental farms. Mr. Macoun is a son of Professor John Macoun, of Ottawa, the famous naturalist and explorer, who died last year in his ninetieth year.

Mr. Macoun said that he had seen on the prairies some of the finest gardens that could possibly be seen anywhere in Canada. But before the prairies can have gardens they must have hedges for windbreaks, Mr. Macoun added. "Set your hedges, and you may look for your garden," he said. "The hedges are coming. The Dominion experimental farms have more, far more, than paid for themselves by the wide distribution which has been given to the caragana hedge, which the Department at Ottawa introduced from Russia. It is indispensable to the small garden on the prairies. I attribute a great deal of the splendid results achieved in western gardening to the influence exerted by the experimental stations," Mr. Macoun declared.

Mr. Macoun said the present aim of the Department of Agriculture is to get earlier varieties of fruits and vegetables, and referred more particularly to the special need for earlier varieties of all kinds on the windswept prairies.

Postage Meter Machine

Does Away With Necessity of Sticking on Stamps

New York has been introduced to the postage meter machine—a machine which makes every man his own stamp printer and does away with the necessity of sticking them on.

The National City Bank has the first one exhibited there.

The machine, recently approved by the post office department, operates on a principle similar to that of the government's automatic cancelling machines. As the letters are run through it, a square about the size of a stamp is printed, in which appear the words: "U. S. Postage—Paid 2 Cents."

The machine is equipped with a register which can be set only by post office authorities. When the register shows the user has stamped as many letters as he paid for, the machine stops and has to be taken to the post office to be reset.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and in healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

Alberta Wool Shipments

Sixty-seven carloads of wool, as compared with sixty-five last year, have been moved from Southern Alberta to the central grading station at Toronto this season. One hundred thousand pounds of Alberta wool have already been sold.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Peasey Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular menstruation, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEASEY, 387 King St., Toronto, Ontario.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Peasey did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

Pain In The Loins Driven Out Quickly

That dragging, wearying sort of pain makes life a misery to many people. This pain is due to a passive inflammation of the adjacent tissue. Because every drop rubs in. More powerful because five times stronger, more penetrating because it strikes through soft tissue, more healing to pain, Nerviline Liniment should be always on hand. Sold everywhere in large 35 cent bottles.

Stake Oil Claims On Arctic Circle

Oil Claims Extend from Fort Norman to the Rim of the Arctic

Oil claims have been staked along the Mackenzie River right up to the Arctic Circle. The staking extends from a point several miles south of Fort Norman, which is 1,500 miles north of Edmonton, to another point within some fifty miles of Good Hope, a post just sixteen miles south of the Arctic Circle. The total distance of the oil staking along the Mackenzie River in this territory is now approximately 150 miles though not continued over this entire length.

PAINFUL NEURALGIA TORTURING SCIATICA

Both Come From the Same Cause—Thin, Watery Blood

Most people think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease are the same. The pain in neuralgia is caused by starved nerves. The blood which carries nourishment to the nerves has become thin and impure and no longer does so, and the pain you feel is the cry of the nerves for their natural food. You may ease the pains of neuralgia with hot applications, but real relief from the trouble comes by enriching and purifying the blood. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are strongly recommended. These pills make new, rich blood and thus act as a most effective nerve tonic. If you are suffering from this most dreaded of troubles, or any form of nerve trouble, give these pills a fair trial, and note the ease and comfort that follows their use.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cost Of Developing Air Navigation

According to Figures Death List is High

Development of airship navigation has been attended by a series of disasters since Santos Dumont first piloted his tiny dirigible around the Eiffel tower in Paris, but the death list in the ZR-2 disaster exceeds that of all other similar accidents.

The greatest number heretofore killed in an airship accident was 28. This was when the German Zeppelin L-2 exploded on October 17, 1913. Thirteen persons were killed in Chicago, July 21, 1919, when a dirigible exploded and fell in flames into the Illinois Trust and Saving Bank. Five persons were killed in Atlantic City, July 2, 1912, when the ship exploded shortly after leaving the ground. Some of the other accidents in which heavy lossed of life occurred follows: Sept. 9, 1913, fifteen lost in destruction of Zeppelin L-1 off Heligoland; July 15, 1919, twelve lost when British airship NS-11 fell into the North Sea after being struck by lightning; June 20, 1914, nine lost in collision of airship and airplane at Vienna; six of the great peace time dirigibles built by Count Zeppelin, the German inventor, met with accidents which wrecked them. They were the Zeppelins I., II., III., and VI., and Deutschlands I. and II.

The Germans lost 66 of 83 dirigibles sent out during the war, of which 34 were accounted for by the Allies and the remainder were wrecked in accidents.

Sweden Wants Wheat

A letter has been received by the Vancouver Board of Trade from a Stockholm Broker inquiring into the possibility of Canada exporting wheat to Sweden and it is quite possible that some wheat which is being shipped to Europe from this port via the Panama Canal will find a market there.

New Dye Plant for Manitoba

A joint stock company will be formed in Winnipeg in the near future with a capitalization of $2,000,000, and a plant valued at more than $250,000 will be erected in St. Boniface, for the production of dyes, according to T. H. Brooks, inventor of a new method of extracting aniline dyes from coal tar.

A Cape Coat For Early Fall Days

By Marie Belmont.

The popularity of the cape is not likely to pass with the summer months. Its pleasing qualities are so much appreciated that there will be many interpretations of it for fall wear. This delightful coat, cut from a heavy silk crepe in a rich shade of brown, is designed with a spreading cape. It is lined with gold, which is revealed when the cape is flung backwards. The sleeves are cut wide at the wrist and are trimmed with beaver. This is also used for the crush collar that is set rather high about the neck. A brown velvet hat with small flowers made of golden ribbon completes the costume.

What He Said.

The Sunday School teacher was talking to her class about Solomon and his wisdom.

"When the Queen of Sheba came and laid jewels and fine raiment before Solomon, what did he say?" she asked presently.

One small girl, who evidently had experience in such matters, replied promptly: ""Ow much d'yer want for the lot "—London Evening News.

Russians Live In Fields

Family of Five Occupy Hut Four by Ten Feet.

In a village in Russia recently a family of five was found living in a hut measuring four by ten feet. The hut was made out of an old farm wagon. All five slept on a bed of straw covered by a sheet and some rags. A stove was the only household article owned by the family, which paid a farmer a weekly rental equal to about 40 cents in Canadian money. An American who recently returned from Russia declared that while this case indicated the severity of the housing situation over there, it was by no means the worst he had seen. Many families are entirely without shelter.
